DON'T BE A DINOSAUR!

By Pam Swain MBA LCGI FIAM MCMI, BADN® Chief Executive

A version of this article appeared in the Spring 07 issue of “Dental Trader”, the official magazine of the British Dental Trade Association.

There has always been a problem with the dental trade on recognition of the dental nurses' role and influence in a dental practice. Too many dental reps are only interested in talking to “the guy” who signs the cheque!

The more savvy dental trade companies know that, whilst s/he may not sign the cheques, a dental nurse can significantly influence the decision to buy or not to buy; or even which of two rival brands to buy. A BADN® survey in 2004, sponsored by 3M Espe¹, revealed that over a third of dental nurses surveyed had responsibility for inventory and ordering of stock/equipment, and another third for practice health & safety. It's not so much the name on the cheque which matters, as the name of the person who makes/influences the decision to purchase!

Even those “dinosaur” dental companies who have, in the past, snubbed dental nurses are beginning to realise that things are changing in dentistry. There are an estimated 30,000 dental nurses in the UK – the largest group in the dental team; that's 30,000 possible advocates for your product, 30,000 registered professionals recommending your product to patients – or not!

BADN® is the UK’s only professional association for dental nurses with a fast-growing membership, as more and more dental nurses realise the benefits of joining. BADN® members have always represented the more professional end of the dental nursing spectrum, but statutory registration and its consequent recognition of the dental nurses' role has made even the “I'm just a dental nurse” brigade reconsider their attitudes. An upsurge of professional pride and realisation that dental nursing now really is a recognised profession, with registration and all its attendant responsibilities, has led more and more dental nurses to join BADN®.

Which is why, in order to foster better relations between dental trade companies and dental nurses, BADN® is introducing its new corporate affiliate scheme. Dental trade companies who sign up for the scheme will have opportunities to promote their products to dental nurses through the British Dental Nurses’ Journal®, through the BADN® website, and at BADN® events, such as the BADN® Annual Dental Nursing Conference. Corporate affiliate members will also meet regularly with BADN® officers and use the BADN® corporate affiliate logo.

The membership fee for corporate affiliates varies according to the size of the company. However, due to the already excellent relationship BADN® has with the BDTA, BDTA members will get a discount on corporate affiliate membership with BADN®.

So, if you’re a dynamic dental trade company who realises the value of the dental nurse, complete the application form and return it to BADN®, Room 200, Hillhouse International Business Centre, Thornton-Cleveleys, FY5 4QD.

ABOUT BADN®

The Beginning

The Association, originally called the “British Dental Nurses and Assistants Society”, was founded in October 1940 in Leyland, Lancashire by the dentist PE Grundy, aided by his dental surgery assistants, Amelia White and Madeleine (Bunty) Winter, who became the first General Secretary.

The Name Change

The Association became the “Association of British Dental Surgery Assistants” or “ABDSA” when the term “dental surgery assistant” or “DSA” came into general use. The name was changed again on 1 November 1994 following a decision at the 1994 AGM to return to the title “Dental Nurse”.

The Journal

Monthly newsheets had been published since 1943 and the first Journal was published in the mid-fourties. The Journal’s title was changed from ‘The British Dental Surgery Assistant’ to ‘The British Dental Nurses Journal’ following the change of name in 1994.

The Examining Board

The Association founded the British Dental Nurses and Assistants Examining Board in 1943, when the first examination was held. The Examining Board became a completely separate entity in the 1980s. It changed its name in 1988 to the National Examining Board for DSAs (NEBDSA) and then again in 1994 to the National Examining Board for Dental Nurses (NEBDN) following the Association’s decision to re-adopt the title “dental nurse”.

In preparation for statutory registration and in response to the need to ensure high quality dental nurse training, the Training Advisory Service was formed and funded by BADN, with financial assistance from DNSTAB. It is now an independent body, with administrative support provided by NEBDN, providing voluntary accreditation of dental nurse training courses, under the name Quality Assurance.

The Voluntary Register

The Voluntary National Register was established by the Association on 1 October 1964 to encourage DSAs to train and become qualified. The Register was initially overseen by a sub-committee of the Joint Consultative Committee but later became the responsibility of the Registration Committee of the General Dental Council’s Dental Nurse Standards and Training Advisory Board. The administration of the VNR continued to be carried out by BADN®, on behalf of DNSTAB, until it closed in December 2005.

The Association Today

BADN® is run by an elected Council, composed of working dental nurses, who give up their free time and who receive no monetary reward, in order to take the dental nursing profession forward. The day to day administration is conducted by the employed staff in head office.

NATIONAL DENTAL NURSING CONFERENCE

The National Dental Nursing Conference is organised each year by BADN. The 2011 Conference will be held at the Glasgow Marriott on 11 and 12 November 2011.

The Conference is open to all members of the dental team; but is attended mostly by dental nurses from the UK and occasionally abroad. Around 150 delegates from all areas of dentistry are expected and the programme covers a wide range of both dental and non-dental topics, offering 8 hours of verifiable CPD.

Two presentations are offered in each time slot – delegates choose which presentations they wish to attend when registering on-line. The Conference also includes an Opening Ceremony and Keynote Speaker (and in odd-numbered years, a Presidential Inauguration); and a Closing Ceremony where the President presents awards and certificates and acknowledges delegates’ achievements over the past year. In odd numbered years there is a Presidential Dinner (which this year will be semi-formal, not black tie) for delegates and invited guests including Presidents of other dental associations; and in even numbered years, an informal – often fancy dress – dinner for delegates and guests.

Registration for Conference is through the CVENT on-line system – delegates to previous Conferences receive priority invitation e-mails two weeks before general registration opens. All those on the BADN e-mail list receive an invitation e-mail when general registration opens, and a link to the registration site is placed on the BADN website one week after registration opens. The CVENT site allows delegates to choose which presentations they wish to attend, their menu for the Dinner, indicate with whom they wish to be seated, and to answer pre-Conference questions.

Platinum and Gold Sponsors of Conference have the opportunity to place their logo on the Conference registration site (please see page  for more details of Conference Sponsorship Opportunities).
